natural stone solutions from the Cotswolds

Natural Cotswold stone has long been a favourite as a building and roofing material. But that same warmth has also made it popular for rockeries and, in chippings form, as an excellent foil for "soft" landscaping schemes.

ROCKERY STONE

Huntsmans particular grade of Cotswold stone comes from a pocket of Jurassic limestone a few miles from Stow-on-the-Wold. It's honey or buff colour and frost resistance made it famous first as slate, which was (and still is) widely specified by architects.

The stone is naturally smooth, a feature that is preserved by mechanical extraction rather than by using the explosives employed for most limestones.

Rockery stone is then hand-selected and can be delivered in bulk, on individual pallets in bulk, or 'jumbo' bags.

CHIPPINGS

Huntsmans Cotswold chippings have the same golden appeal and are available in two hues – the honey-coloured Cotswold classic, and the rather harder and still more durable Premier, which has a more weathered and darker appearance.

Unlike other products on the market, Huntsmans chippings are washed to ensure a perfect appearance from the moment they are laid.

Chippings are available in 20mm, 14mm, 10mm and 6mm sizes and can be supplied loose, in bulk bags or small bags.

GRAVELS

The Huntsmans range of washed amber gravels comes from its operation at Bishops Cleeve.

They are ideally suited for landscaping and pathways and are available as 20mm, 10mm and 6mm.

As with chippings, they can be supplied loose, in bulk bags or small bags.

APPROXIMATE SPREAD RATES - 20MM CHIPPINGS/GRAVEL

1 Tonne = 20m² @ 25mm thick

1 Tonne = 25m² @ 20mm thick

Note

*More material will be required to cover same area if using smaller sizes.
No liability for the accuracy of spread rates is given as this can depend on ground conditions and compaction.*
